

GEORGE BANOS CV

GEORGE BANOS was born in Piraeus in 1936. After completion of his general education courses, and having also completed lessons of French and English languages, we went to sea, first as an apprentice, subsequently to become a captain. After about four years of captainship, he gave up sea life to become a shipbroker. It was in 1968. He soon specialised in sale & purchase of vessels with emphasis to the shipbuilding contracting. He has so far been instrumental in a 3 digits number of newbuilding orders. At the same time, through special studies in Shipping, he wrote more than 300 articles in the Greek and in the International maritime press. He has also written a book with his memories from sea life and he is preparing another one titled ' Stories from Akti Miaouli ' which he will wisely(!) publish after going on pension. In the last 20 years he is cooperating with the well known Piraeus shipbroker, George Moundreas & Co., currently as a shipbuilding consultant.
